

14 - 16 years

GCSE and sixth form entry

- »The GCSE years are all about choices
- »Navigating your child's options
- »Support and tutoring

TutorWorld has been fantastic for Anna! The tutors are knowledgeable, patient and really know how to make challenging topics easy to understand. Anna's confidence and grades have improved so much since joining and she genuinely enjoys the sessions. We're so grateful for the support and dedication they provide!

Mrs Khan -

Get in touch | 0121 - 257-9760

www.tutor-world.co.uk

The GCSE years are all about choices

What subjects to take at GCSE and what A-levels or IB options might they lead to? How does that affect decisions about university? Should your child stay on at their existing school or move for sixth-form?

Whatever the choices in front of you, understanding the options and putting learning support in place that will help your child succeed is invaluable.

Navigating your child's options

The options can seem endless; home schooling, boarding school, day school and perhaps additional private tutoring. Then on top of that you need to consider the ethos of a school, its strengths and pastoral environment and how they might fit with your child's interests and ambitions.

Support and tutoring

Children can feel immense pressure around major examinations and the best way to support them is to give them the tools and knowledge they need to succeed. Tutor World represents tutors who are experts at just that; passionate about their subjects, they offer calm, structured assistance that allows your child to shine.

